The Wandering Israeli Stage Show:
One of the Best Events We Ever Hosted in Los Angeles

To whom it may concern,

Since 2009, MATI, Israeli Cultural Center in Los Angeles, has been aiming to bring the finest Israeli cultural shows from Israel to the Los Angeles area. One of the best events we ever hosted was "The Wandering Israeli."

The event, held at the Sinai Temple in Beverly Hills on September 11, 2016, started with the full-length English version for English speakers and "mixed" couples. Immediately following was the Hebrew Version ("Ha-Israeli Ha-Noded"). There was a great turnout of over 540 people to both shows!

Following the event, our organization got raving compliments from both our English and Hebrew crowds for choosing to host "The Wandering Israeli". A show that is a perfect fit for English and Hebrew speakers. A show that, through witty and humorous storytelling, theater and live music, brings to stage the love we all have for Israel.

What makes this show so special?

The true-life stories of "The Wandering Israeli" are presented by creator/actor Elad Shippony in a manner that relates to everyone - people from all walks of life and all ages. The talented musicians, Sagi Eiland and Eran Edri, balance off the overall theatrical experience with live music that is seamlessly blended into the storyline.

What many people told us after they show is that they connected, that they felt they rekindled their own journeys and their love for Israel through the stories and music they witnessed on stage. Throughout the show, people cheered, laughed, even shed a few tears, and topped it all off with a standing ovation.

It is my honor and pleasure to recommend the "The Wandering Israeli" to any Jewish/Israeli organization that wishes to bring a special taste of Israel to their community. For more recommendations or questions, do not hesitate to contact me at: maticity@maticenter.com
